Société de musique contemporaine du Québec

For over 50 years, the Société de musique contemporaine du Québec (SMCQ) has been contributing to the promotion and development of music creation. With its four activity streams, it is now considered to be one of the most important and dynamic new music institutions in North America. The SMCQ's activities largely depend on donations from people like you. Here are a few endeavours that your donation will help continue:

Together for creation and creators

Thanks to us, each year:

- 20,000 children are introduced to music creation;
- 150 musicians perform on stage;
- Composers - young and established - create new musical works, contributing to the construction of a unique musical heritage in Quebec and Canada (134 since 1966);
- Hundreds of teachers have access to educational tools via our web platform.
